

Project STEEM
Infinity Institute
Student Commitment Form

I _____, as a participating student in Project STEEM agree to the following commitments:

- Attend the summer Infinity Institute camp at Texas A&M University-Commerce on June 8th-July 3rd 2008.
- Participate in all activities of the camp. Participation in all activities is required in order to receive payment at the end of the program.¹
- Treat fellow campers with dignity and respect.
- Respect the ideas and property of everyone involved in the camp, including respect for the property of Texas A&M University-Commerce.
- Participate in surveys, interviews, and evaluations for Project STEEM.
- Make available my academic records to Texas A&M University-Commerce for the purpose of tracking my progress throughout my academic career. I understand that this includes all current and future academic records for the next 3 years.
- Abide by the designated dress code: Dress code should comply with your school district. In addition, no open-toed shoes such as sandals or flip flops are allowed. This is for safety in the laboratory. It is recommended that you wear long pants in the lab, but this is not required. Girls with long hair should wear it pulled back in a pony tail during labs. We will be using the recreation center for some fun activities. Jeans are not allowed in the Morris Recreation Center, so bring your swimsuit and a change of clothes.
